ASSESSMENT POLICY

1. GENERAL

1.1. Purpose and Scope

Applicants to the National Committee on Accreditation (“NCA”) are individuals who seek to practice law in a Common Law Jurisdiction in Canada but were not trained in an Approved Canadian Common Law Program. This Assessment Policy outlines the criteria and processes for assessing the Qualifications of these Applicants for the purposes of granting a Certificate of Qualification. A Certificate of Qualification permits an Applicant to apply to a Regulatory Authority for entry into the bar admission process in a Common Law Jurisdiction in Canada. A Certificate of Qualification does not entitle an individual to practice law.

1.2. Application

This Policy applies to individuals who obtained their legal education from an institution(s) outside of Canada or from a Canadian Civil Law program. It does not apply to graduates of Canadian Common Law Programs (LL.B. or J.D.) approved by the Federation of Law Societies of Canada (“Federation”). It also does not apply to individuals seeking to practice law (common law or civil law) in the province of Quebec. Individuals should contact the Barreau du Quebec for more information on admission to the bar and practicing law in Quebec.

2. ELIGIBILITY TO APPLY

To be eligible to apply to the NCA an Applicant must have a Qualifying Law Degree, unless an exception is allowed under section 5.1.3, as verified by Publicly Available Information.

3. ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

3.1. General

Each application is evaluated on an individual basis. To be eligible for a Certificate of Qualification, an Applicant must demonstrate that they have acquired the competencies and skills equivalent to those required of graduates of Approved Canadian Common Law Programs, as set out in the National Requirement.

3.2. Assessment Criteria

The following criteria will be used in the Assessment of an Applicant's Qualifications:

- Pre-Law Education
- Legal Education
 - Academic Program completed
 - Substantive legal knowledge requirements
 - Length of academic Program
 - Mode of study
 - Academic performance
 - Currency of Qualifications
- Skills Competencies
 - Problem solving
 - Legal research
 - Oral and written communications
- Language Proficiency in English or French
- Consideration of a previous NCA Misconduct Finding

4. PRE-LAW EDUCATION

4.1. Length of Study

An Applicant must demonstrate that they have successfully completed a minimum of two (2) Years of full time (or equivalent) post-secondary education in a university-level Program recognized by the post-secondary educational authority in the Relevant Jurisdiction prior to commencing the Qualifying Law Degree. An Applicant who does not meet this requirement will be assigned a minimum of two (2) Additional Legal Subjects (see subsection 6.3), which must be successfully completed along with any other requirements set out in the Assessment Decision, to compensate for this deficiency.

4.2. Waiver of Requirement

The Executive Director has sole discretion to waive this requirement when the Applicant:

- a. possesses a Qualifying Law Degree from a Program longer than three (3) Years in duration (e.g. an integrated B.A./LL.B. that is four (4) or more Years in length or its equivalent);
- b. has, subsequent to obtaining a Qualifying Law Degree, successfully completed additional post-secondary education in a university-level Program recognized by the post-secondary educational authority in the Relevant Jurisdiction including baccalaureate or graduate-level studies in any field (e.g. B.A., B.Sc., LL.M., MBA);

- d. has a minimum of five (5) years of Professional Legal Experience as defined in subsection 1.3.

5. LEGAL EDUCATION

5.1. Academic Program Completed

As per section 2 above, to be considered for assessment, an Applicant must have a Qualifying Law Degree.

5.1.1 Advanced Standing

An Applicant who transferred to a different educational institution part-way through their law Program and was given Advanced Standing for Courses completed in their previous law Program will have those Courses recognized only if both Programs, if successfully completed, would result in Qualifying Law Degrees. Courses in the previous law Program that were not taken as part of a Qualifying Law Degree will not be assessed.

5.1.2 Study at Local Learning Centres

Some Regulatory Authorities provide the option for students to obtain a law degree by receiving instruction through a Local Learning Centre. Instruction received through a Local Learning Centre will be assessed as Distance Learning under section 7 (see subsection 7.3.1).

5.1.3 Exception for Licensure

Where an Applicant holds a law degree that contains the subjects that would ordinarily meet the academic requirements for entry into the bar admission process in the Relevant Jurisdiction, but is not a Qualifying Law Degree, and has obtained licensure from a Regulatory Authority in a common law jurisdiction through successful completion of substantive examination(s) and/or courses, the Executive Director may, at their sole discretion, determine whether the licensing process is sufficiently comprehensive to compensate for the Applicant not having a Qualifying Law Degree. However, in such circumstances, none of the Core Subjects completed during the Applicant's legal education will be accepted.

5.2. Substantive Legal Knowledge Requirements

An Applicant is required to demonstrate competence in eight (8) substantive common law knowledge areas known as Core Subjects. These are the same subjects required of all graduates of an Approved Canadian Common Law Program.

The eight (8) Core Subjects are:

1. Canadian Administrative Law
2. Canadian Constitutional Law
3. Canadian Criminal Law
4. Canadian Professional Responsibility
5. Foundations of Canadian Law
6. Contracts
7. Property
8. Torts

An Applicant may demonstrate competence in the five (5) Core Subjects with Canadian-specific content (Canadian Administrative Law, Canadian Constitutional Law, Canadian Criminal Law, Canadian Professional Responsibility, and Foundations of Canadian Law) through successful completion of NCA examinations, successful completion of Courses in an Approved Canadian Common Law Program, or as set out in this section. Courses in these Canadian-specific Core Subjects taken through Programs that are not Approved Canadian Common Law Programs will not be considered except as set out in subsection 5.2.3.2.

An Applicant may demonstrate competence in the three (3) Core Subjects of Contracts, Property and Torts through successful completion of NCA examinations, successful completion of Courses taken in an Approved Canadian Common Law Program, or as set out below based on the jurisdiction of the Applicant's legal education or licensure.

5.2.1 Applications from Common Law Jurisdictions

An Applicant may demonstrate competence in Contracts, Torts and Property by successfully completing Courses in those subjects as part of a Qualifying Law Degree or, at the sole discretion of the NCA Executive Director, through the licensing process in a Common Law Jurisdiction (as provided in the List of Common Law Jurisdictions on the NCA website), subject to the legal academic performance requirements outlined in section 8.

5.2.2 Applications from Mixed Law Jurisdictions

An Applicant from a Mixed Law Jurisdiction (as provided in the List of Mixed Law Jurisdictions on the NCA website) will be assessed on the basis of the common law content of their Qualifications. In addition to being required to demonstrate competence in the eight (8) Core Subjects, such an Applicant may be required to demonstrate competence in Additional Legal Subjects if the Executive Director determines, at their sole discretion, that the Applicant has had insufficient exposure to the common law. In assessing exposure to the common law, the Executive Director will consider the same criteria outlined under subsection 5.2.4.

5.2.3 Applications from Canadian Civil Law Graduates

The NCA recognizes the significant Canadian common law component of the legal education of Applicants with a Qualifying Law Degree from a civil law Program at a Canadian law school. Although there are significant differences between the common law (used everywhere in Canada other than Quebec) and the civil law (used in Quebec), all public law in Quebec is based on the common law system.

5.2.3.1 Applicants Licensed by the Barreau du Quebec

Consistent with the provisions of the National Mobility Agreement 2013, which recognizes the significant overlap in the training in Canadian common law and Canadian civil law Programs, an Applicant with a Qualifying Law Degree from a Program at a Canadian law school who holds a licence from the Barreau du Quebec will automatically receive a Certificate of Qualification upon review of their completed application.

5.2.3.2 Unlicensed Canadian Civil Law Graduates

Notwithstanding 5.2 above, an Applicant with a Qualifying Law Degree from a Canadian civil law Program who does not hold a licence from the Barreau du Quebec may demonstrate competence in the Canadian-specific Core Subjects through successful completion of those subjects as part of their Program. Such Applicants will be required to demonstrate competence in the following subjects, unless they have been successfully completed within a Qualifying Law Degree in a Common Law Jurisdiction:

- Contracts;
- Torts;
- Property; and
- Canadian Professional Responsibility (if not successfully completed during the Applicant's Canadian civil law education).

5.2.4 Applications from Non-Common Law Jurisdictions

Graduates of non-common law degree Programs (e.g., civil law, customary law) outside of Canada will not receive recognition for their legal education unless they have sufficient exposure to the common law in accordance with this Policy. Sufficient exposure to the common law may be obtained through:

1. A common law degree (i.e. LL.B., BCL, J.D., Course-based LL.M.). An LL.M. with a focus in international law will not normally provide sufficient exposure to the common law, even if it was completed in a Common Law Jurisdiction. However, the Executive Director will review all transcripts that are Official Documents and has sole discretion to determine if some of the Courses completed can satisfy requirements to proceed in the NCA assessment process. Doctorate degrees (i.e. PhD) will not normally be considered.
2. Licensure as a lawyer, barrister, or solicitor in a Common Law Jurisdiction when obtained through the successful completion of substantive Course work and/or examinations. The Executive Director has sole discretion to determine whether the Course work and/or examinations are sufficiently comprehensive for the Applicant to proceed in the NCA assessment process.
3. Certification as a paralegal or notary in a Common Law Jurisdiction. The Executive Director has sole discretion to determine whether the paralegal or notary certification process is sufficiently comprehensive for the Applicant to proceed in the NCA assessment process.

Exposure to the common law in the above-mentioned ways is considered strictly for the purposes of enabling non-common law graduates to proceed in the NCA assessment process. An Applicant with sufficient exposure to the common law, as determined by the Executive Director in accordance with this Policy, will be required to demonstrate competence in all eight (8) Core Subjects through the successful completion of NCA examinations or Courses in an Approved Canadian Common Law Program, plus any Additional Legal Subjects deemed necessary considering their Qualifications (see subsection 6.3).

6. LENGTH OF LAW PROGRAM

6.1. General

An Applicant is required to have completed three (3) Years in a Qualifying Law Degree program. This is consistent with the requirement for Approved Canadian Common Law Programs.

6.2. When Requirement is Not Met

If an Applicant completed a Qualifying Law Degree that is less than three (3) Years in length, they will be required to demonstrate competency in at least one (1) of the following ways:

1. Completion of a minimum of two (2) Additional Legal Subjects through successful completion of NCA examinations or Courses within a Program, as deemed acceptable at the sole discretion of the Executive Director, such as:
 - a. An Approved Canadian Common Law Program;
 - b. A Qualifying Law Degree; or
 - c. A mixed law or non-common law Program.
2. At least five (5) years of Professional Legal Experience as defined under subsection 1.3.

6.3. Additional Legal Subjects

When Additional Legal Subjects must be assigned, they will be selected from the following list:

- a. Business Organizations
- b. Civil Procedure
- c. Commercial Law
- d. Evidence
- e. Family Law
- f. Remedies

The number of Additional Legal Subjects assigned will depend on the length of the law Program completed by an Applicant.

In most cases, the Assessment Decision will provide an Applicant with options for which subject(s) they may complete. However, an Applicant will not be assigned subjects that they successfully completed during their legal education.

7. MODE OF STUDY

7.1. Assessing the Mode of Study

The NCA recognizes that the practice of law is an interpersonal endeavour. Problems are solved through interactions with other individuals, requiring an understanding of how to effectively communicate with people in person. This section outlines how the NCA assesses the mode of study for Courses delivered along a spectrum of interaction, from In-person Instruction to Interactive Online Instruction as described in subsection 7.2, to Distance Learning as described in subsection 7.3.

7.2. Interactive Learning Requirement

The National Requirement requires that two-thirds (or two (2) out of three (3) Years) of an Applicant's Qualifying Law Degree must have been obtained through In-person Instruction or instruction involving direct interaction between instructor and students.

To be recognized as meeting this interactive learning requirement, a Course that is not wholly delivered through In-person Instruction must meet the following criteria:

- I. Courses using Interactive Online Instruction must be part of a Program that consists of no less than one (1) Year of In-person Instruction as defined in this Policy.
- II. Courses using Interactive Online Instruction must provide opportunities for students to develop legal problem solving and legal communications skills and include no fewer than six (6) of the following eight (8) components:
 - a. reliable access for instructor and students to all media and applications used in the delivery of the Course;
 - b. a synchronous element providing direct interaction between instructor and students that accounts for no less than 1/3 of the scheduled course hours;
 - c. mechanisms to ensure students satisfy the 1/3 requirement;
 - d. mechanisms to provide formative feedback to students;
 - e. mechanisms to assess student progress, which may include assignments, in-class presentations, or in-class participation;
 - f. methods to assist students in developing oral communications skills including in-class participation, presentations or participation in discussion-groups;
 - g. methods of assessment that:
 - i. are developed by the instructor;
 - ii. are monitored by the instructor or their delegate;
 - iii. ensure students satisfy the relevant elements of the National Requirement;
 - iv. provide some guarantee against academic misconduct; and
 - v. are assessed by the instructor.
 - h. ready access for students to on-line legal resources including:
 - i. case law for the relevant jurisdiction;
 - ii. legislation for the relevant jurisdiction;
 - iii. research tools including digests, loose-leaf services or forms;
 - iv. treatises for the relevant jurisdiction; and
 - v. leading journals for Core Subjects.

The Executive Director will take all evidence obtained directly from the Issuing Institution into consideration to determine whether the interactive learning requirement has been satisfied. In particular, in assessing whether an Interactive Online Instruction Course complies with this Policy, the Executive Director will consider:

- a. the total Course hours;
- b. the number of hours of synchronous contact and the nature of that contact;
- c. the nature and extent of all direct contact between the instructor and students;
- d. the number and nature of assessments and whether they are of a type that permits the instructor to determine whether a student satisfies the relevant elements of the National Requirement;
- e. whether students have online access to core legal materials; and
- f. whether the Course is part of a Program that consists of no less than one (1) Year of In-person Instruction.

7.3. Distance Learning

An Applicant who holds a Qualifying Law Degree from a Distance Learning Program or any Program that does not meet the interactive learning requirement under subsection 7.2, must successfully complete two (2) Years of In-person Instruction in a law Program acceptable to the NCA, at the Executive Director's sole discretion, in addition to any other requirements identified by the Executive Director. The two-Year requirement may be reduced if an Applicant has received some In-person Instruction or instruction involving direct interaction between instructor and students (as per the National Requirement) in a law Program acceptable to the NCA, at the Executive Director's sole discretion.

7.3.1 Instruction Obtained at a Local Learning Centre

Any In-person Instruction or Interactive Online Instruction obtained at a Local Learning Centre, as described under subsection 1.3, will not count toward meeting the interactive learning requirement under subsection 7.2 and will not be recognized by the Executive Director in considering a reduction of the two-Year requirement under subsection 7.3.

7.3.2 NCA Examinations Alternative to Courses

Where an Applicant, whose Assessment Decision requires them to successfully complete two (2) Years in a law Program acceptable to the NCA, is not able to access Courses to complete the Core Subjects in subsection 5.2, the Executive Director may, at their sole discretion, assign NCA examinations as an alternative where satisfied that the Applicant has completed sufficient Additional Legal Studies that meet the interactive learning requirement.

7.4. Additional Legal Studies to Satisfy Requirement

Additional Legal Studies acceptable to the NCA, at the Executive Director's sole discretion, and delivered through In-person Instruction or Interactive Online Instruction that meets the criteria under paragraphs 7.2(I) and (II), will count towards satisfying the interactive learning requirement.

7.4.1 One-Year Programs

Additional Legal Studies completed as part of a one (1) Year Program (e.g., a conferred LL.M) acceptable to the NCA, at the Executive Director's sole discretion, must consist of no less than fifty percent (50%) In-person Instruction with the remainder delivered through Interactive Online Instruction that meets the criteria outlined under paragraph 7.2(II).

7.5 Mode of Study under amended National Requirement

Applicants whose files are ready to be assessed as of January 1, 2029 will be subject to the mode of study requirements set out in the amended National Requirement 2029, which will require two out of three Years an Applicant's Qualifying Law Degree be obtained through In-person Instruction.

8. LEGAL ACADEMIC PERFORMANCE

8.1. General

Academic performance is an indicator of an Applicant's command of the legal concepts covered during their legal education. An Applicant's overall academic performance during their Qualifying Law Degree (e.g., passing grade or average) and their academic performance in individual Core Subjects will be assessed. An Applicant must first demonstrate acceptable overall legal academic performance before academic performance in individual Core Subjects will be assessed.

8.2. Overall Legal Academic Performance

An Applicant must demonstrate overall legal academic performance acceptable to the NCA, at the Executive Director's sole discretion. An Applicant with unacceptable overall legal academic performance will not receive any recognition for that degree. By way of examples, Third Class or Pass degrees under the British system of legal education and a GPA of less than 1.0 in Australia and the United States, do not qualify as acceptable academic performance.

8.2.1 Remediating Unacceptable Legal Academic Performance

Unacceptable overall legal academic performance may be remedied through successful completion of Additional Legal Studies resulting in a conferred degree. Only Core Subject(s) completed during Additional Legal Studies will, however, be considered.

8.3. Academic Performance in Core Subjects

An Applicant must demonstrate acceptable legal academic performance when completing Courses in Contracts, Torts and Property through a Qualifying Law Degree. A failing grade or a grade less than five percent (5%) or 5 marks, whichever is higher, above the passing grade at the institution of study in any of these Courses constitutes unacceptable legal academic performance. For example, if the institution's passing grade is 50%, the Applicant must have received a grade of at least 55% in each of these Courses.

8.3.1 Remediating Unacceptable Performance in Core Subjects

Unacceptable legal academic performance in a Core Subject may only be remedied through successful completion of the subject through NCA examinations or Additional Legal Studies.

9. CURRENCY OF LEGAL QUALIFICATIONS

9.1. Currency

An Applicant's Qualifications must be current at the time their file was ready for assessment. For an Applicant's Qualifications to be considered current, in three (3) of the past five (5) years they must have been attending a Qualifying Law Degree Program, pursuing additional legal studies or acquiring legal experience, or engaging in some combination of legal studies and legal experience, satisfactory to the NCA at the Executive Director's sole discretion. If an Applicant's Qualifications are not current at the time their file was ready for assessment, the Qualifications will be considered "stale", and the Applicant will be assigned Core Subjects and/or Additional Legal Subjects in accordance with subsection 9.2.

9.2. Assignment of Additional Legal Subjects

An Applicant who lacks current Qualifications for a period not exceeding five (5) years will be required to complete their choice of one of the following unassigned subjects: Contracts, Torts, or Property.

- a. If the Applicant continues to lack current Qualifications for any part of a subsequent five (5) year period (from 5 to 10 years), their choice of a second subject will be assigned in one of the two remaining subjects;
- b. For any part of an additional five (5) year period beyond ten (10) years (up to a total of fifteen (15) years), a third subject will be assigned;
- c. If all three subjects have already been assigned and the Applicant still does not have current Qualifications, Additional Legal Subjects will be assigned from the list in subsection 6.3;
- d. If the Applicant's Qualifications are more than fifteen (15) years old as of the date their file is ready for assessment, the Executive Director will require the Applicant to complete one (1) Year of In-person Instruction at an institution that offers an Approved Canadian Common Law Program or within a Qualifying Law Degree program.

12. APPLICATION PROCESS

12.1. How to Apply

Once completed, an Applicant will be assigned a file number and a password that will enable them to access their candidate profile to track and monitor the status of their application.

12.3.2 Submitting Law School and Licensing Documents (Official Documents)

Official Documents, including law school transcripts and all licensing-related documents, must be sent directly from the Issuing Institution(s) to the NCA by post, courier or through a secure online document sharing system. It is the responsibility of the Applicant to contact the Issuing Institution(s) to make the necessary arrangements for submitting these documents. The NCA will not accept these documents if they are submitted by the Applicant.

12.4. Refugee Applicants

While Refugee Applicants are encouraged to submit the required documentation in accordance with subsections 12.2 and 12.3, the NCA will work with each Applicant to determine suitable alternative arrangements and documentation if they are unable to obtain Original Documents or arrange for documents to be submitted directly from Issuing Institutions to the NCA. In such cases, Refugee Applicants will be required to present evidence of refugee or similar status, along with any other documentation the NCA determines is needed for an assessment.
